

DO YOU KNOW...

...approximately 90 percent of manufactured homes have leaky ductwork causing heated or cooled air to escape?

This can increase your energy bills and make it difficult to maintain a comfortable temperature in your home.

Idaho Power is offering manufactured homeowners FREE duct testing and sealing through the Energy House Calls program.

more information.*

You may qualify for a FREE Energy House Call if you:

- live in a manufactured home,
- have an electric forced-air furnace or heat pump,
- do not have combustion devices—heaters or appliances that use kerosene, natural gas, charcoal, butane, propane or oil, and
- have not had an Energy House Call before.

A certified-trained contractor will:

- test the duct system for air leakage and seal the leaks,
- install energy efficient light bulbs,
- replace the air filter and
- check the hot water temperature.
