

What is Happening at Locust Park?

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC), issued Idaho Power a new 30-year operational license for the C. J. Strike Hydroelectric Project on August 4, 2004. The license includes a number of fish, wildlife, aquatic, archaeological, and botanical enhancements as well as recreational facility enhancements and interpretational signage. The site drawing below illustrates planned enhancements for Locust Park.

- Locust Park will remain open to the public, with some restrictions, during construction in 2008 through early 2009.

- Some site features will change slightly during the permitting and construction process.

- Locust Park will feature:

Vault Toilet
Parking for Boat Trailers
Retain Open Campsite Layout
